Pipers Parade To Forest Theater Sunday Afternoon

The Pipers are coming to Carmel again! On Sunday, the Salinas Valley Highlanders, wearing the MacKenzie tartan of the famous Seaforth Highland Regiment, will parade up Ocean Avenue to the Forest Theater. This annual event, which is sponsored by the Carmel Arts Commission, is scheduled to begin at the city hall about 1:40 p.m. and reach the Forest Theater for a 2:00 o'clock performance.

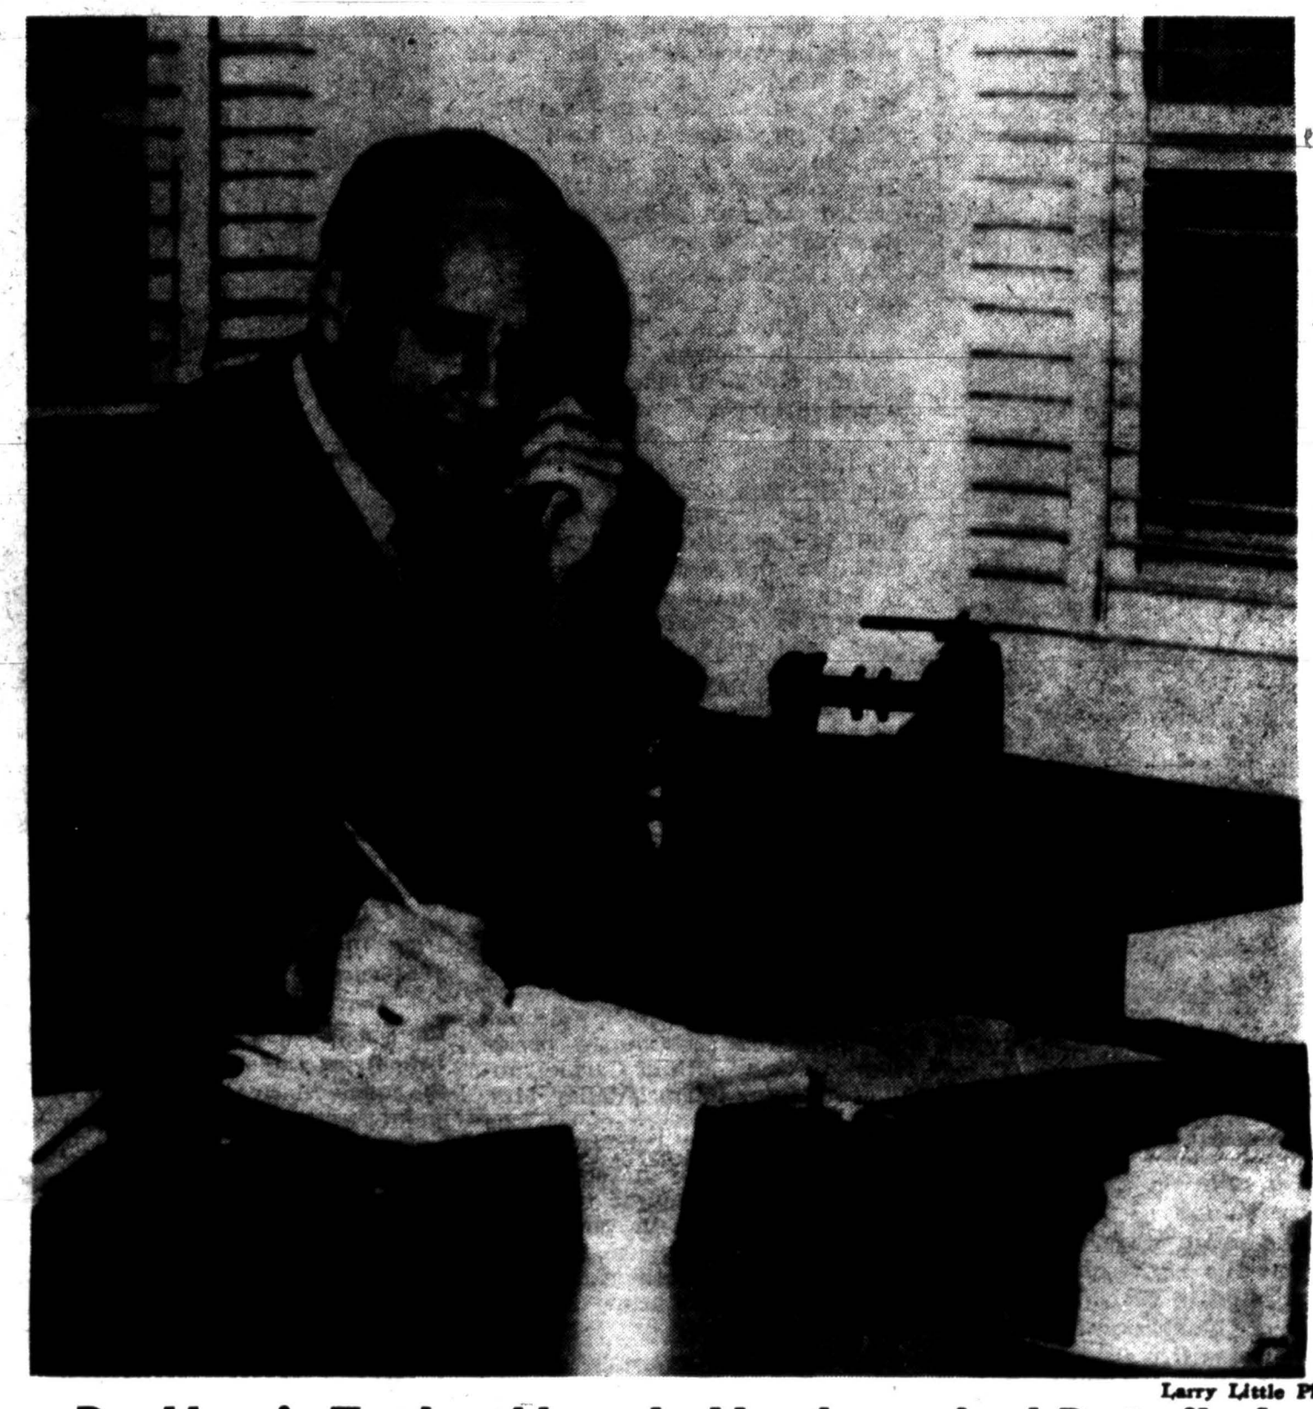

Organized in Salinas in 1962, the Highland group is under the direction of Pipe Major Robert P. Watwood. Sgt. Richard Kirkland, U. S. Army, Fort Ord, is drum major. He also is bass and tenor drum instructor. He served with the 7th Cavalry in Germany, at which time he was drum major for the Regimental Pipe Band.

Members of the band are from all walks of life. They had not been associated with Highland bands prior to 1962 but were drawn together by their common interest in Highland music and a desire to increase their knowledge of the music as performed on the most ancient celtic instruments—the pipe and the drum.

Since their last appearance in Carmel, the Highlanders have marched in the San Francisco St. Patrick's Day Parade and in the Chinese New Year's Parade, where they placed first in their division and second in all-civilian band competition. They placed second in the open civilian division at the San Juan Bautista Fiesta and first in the Bagpipe Division of the Comino dell Rodeo Parade.

Sunday's event, which this year celebrates the 50th year of Carmel's incorporation as a city, is the 9th Summer Sunday Program presented free of charge in Carmel's municipal outdoor theatre by the Carmel Arts Commission.

Dr. Harris Taylor Already Has Launched Det ailed Studies of Existing School District Problems

BY WENDY GRISSIM

With September approaching and the annual, hectic preparations for the fall semester underway, the Carmel Unified School District looks ahead to an active year under its new superintendent, Dr. Harris Taylor.

Newly-arrived from Carlsbad, California, with his wife and family, Dr. Taylor is well qualified to take the position formerly held by Medill Bair. An associate professor at the Claremont Graduate School for five years, he had five years previous experience as the assistant superintendent of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

"I have worked in many school districts," he remarked, "which gives me a basis for comparison. One naturally applies one's knowledge to establish a criteria for evaluation."

For the past month, Dr. Taylor has been meeting with administrators and gathering data on the existing problems and facets of the Carmel school system. "If I intend to make any intelligent decisions," he stated, "I have to know all the factors involved."

Already Dr. Taylor has launched detailed studies of the maintenance, transportation and business areas, and the board of education has hired a new business manager, recommended by Dr. Taylor, to design a more controlled financial program. A review of the cafeteria system is also being planned.

When asked about his hopes for the district, Dr. Taylor replied, "I am convinced that the people in Carmel want good schools, and the resources are here to have one of the finest school districts in the country. But," he added, "I haven't envisioned any 'Grand Program,' the thousands of little things are what give us the solid basis on which we can build. I will do all I can to help the district realize its potential."

No Action Taken On Baez School Request

The Sunset Commission, on Monday night, took no action, which amounted to denial, of the application of the Institute of Nonviolence to use a room at Sunset Center on weekends. A commission report on the matter stated that the school, founded by folk singer Joan Baez, had been given a full opportunity to present its request, full recognition was given the request, and in October, the school will find out whether or not its county permit to operate in Carmel Valley will be renewed, or revised to allow weekend use, now prohibited.

Commissioner Captain Frank Falge reported that Jack B. C. Purcell of Anaheim associated with Bolt Baranek and Newman, Inc., a consulting development research firm, had made a study last week of Sunset Center auditorium acoustics at the expense of the California Arts Commission and that his official report is expected in the near future.

City Tax May Be 2c More

Weary after many hours spent in the past three months cutting items from a proposed 1966-67 budbet which would have raised the Carmel tax rate at least 25 cents, members of the city council last night closed their copies of the budget and went home knowing that substantial reductions had been made. Just what their work would mean to the tax rate they will definitely find out at 5 p.m. today when they convene to adopt the budget for the coming fiscal year and set the tax rate.

But City Finance Officer Arthur Plaxton and City Administrator Hugh Bayless did not go home to sleep. They worked far into the night. As a result Mr. Bayless announced this morning that if the council, this afternoon, adopts the budget as it was left last night, Carmel property owners will pay $1.30 per $100 assessed property value to run the city this year. This figure is two cents higher than the 1965-66 tax rate.

A last minute inclusion in the budget prevented the tax rate from approximating that of last year. Councilman Eben Whittlesey proposed adding $5,000 to the capital outlay replacement reserve, thus bringing it up to $35,000. He stated that rising costs made this a desirable addition, also that the policy of the council and administration was to build up annually this reserve for unexpected expenditures, such as replacement of vehicles or machinery which give out in any given year, and for which money has not been budgeted.

Councilman Herbert Blanks seconded this motion and added that the decision made last night to keep one of the police cars, instead of buying a new one, possibly might result in the car having to be replaced during the coming year from the capital outlay replacement reserve.

Councilman William Sefton joined Mr. Whittlesey and Mr. Blanks in an affirmative vote on this addition. Mayor Stephen Grant and Councilman Gunnar Norberg opposed it.

Biggest cut made last night was in the Harrison Memorial Library budget. Peter Dyer, a member of

Arts Council Plans Regional Conference

Plans for a regional conference on the arts to be held on the Peninsula, co-sponsored by the Arts Coordinating Council of Monterey County and the California Arts Commission, in late October were discussed at the Arts Coordinating Council August meeting yesterday. This will be one of a series of one-day conferences being planned for different parts of the State by the state commission. Special consultants to the state commission on the performing arts, also the formation of arts councils and so favored the Sunset Commission studying "a sequence of suggestions" and using a technical advisor where needed.

The $2,000 was allocated instead of $4,000 requested for a feasibility study.

The establishment of the city theater/stage management employment category reduces the budget requests of the Sunset and arts commissions by $700. The Sunset commission had asked for a stage manager ($5,000) and the arts commission for a theatre manager ($900). Any employe in the new category will be responsible to the city administrator and assume management of all uses of Sunset auditorium stage, also uses of the city-owned Forest Theater.

The Sunset Commission maintenance and repair budget was reduced by $5,479: its capital outlay budget requests by $1,500 for carpeting auditorium aisles. With this accomplished, the council then had a generous impulse and replaced in this commission's budget the sum of $1,225 for the purchase of 100 movable stacking chairs.

Somewhat dismayed, the council took no action on the Harrison Memorial Library's requested budget of $79,283.

"I'm numb," said Mayor Grant and asked Frederick Duhring, president of the library board, if he could see "anything that could be reduced."

"Not without detriment to the city," Mr. Duhring replied.

Approved was the civil defense council request for $500 for 1966-67.

The city council will resume budget study Wednesday night at 8:30 p. m.

Civic Center Loan

funds will maintain the $352,552 which the city has in the bank drawing interest at 4.8 percent.

The loan is proposed to be amortized by yearly payments of $50,000 accruing to the hostelry tax revenue allocated to the improvement of city property according to the general plan. Each year, the annual tax interim loan will be reduced by this amount, equal to half the annual hostelry tax revenue for this allocation, until the loan for Phase I of the civic center is fully paid in June, 1971.

Mr. Norberg termed the tax interim loan "borrowing on a fantastic scale." He and Mr. Sefton have asked the California legislature to investigate the legality of this financing procedure. "We're forbidden by the state constitution to commit a future year's revenue," Mr. Norberg reiterated last night.

The tax interim loan bids will be opened by the city clerk on September 1 and presented to the council at its September meeting. Date stipulated for the loan to go into effect is September 15.

A SPECIAL INVITATION

Anyone who knows stories about "old Carmel" is invited to send them to the Pine Cone for a special edition of the paper commemorating the 50th anniversary of the incorporation of the city. Photographs of early days will be welcome, too. Businessmen are invited to prepare special and unusual advertising for this issue.

also capable of conducting fire prevention education within the department. Close cooperation was necessary between this fireman and the city building inspector's department both as to existing and planned structures he emphasized, and added that he did not think anyone "external" to the department would be effective.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg objected to the creation of the new title of "chief of fire prevention bureau." The salary range for this position was proposed as $566-756 a month. Mr. Whittlesey stated that a title was essential to the duties of a man authorized to go into establishments and make inspections and recommendations. Maybe "inspector," would be a more desirable title, he suggested. (Monthly pay for this designation would be $505-$674 as opposed to $476-$636 as engineer.)

Councilman William Sefton inquired about the attitude of the men of the department to the fire prevention chief proposal. Mr. Whittlesey replied that the proposed program and procedure would not have been undertaken unless it was believed it had the backing of the department. He added that pre-fire planning relates to the safety of firemen at work.

Fire prevention work is no longer a casual job with the present impacted business district, he added.

Finally the council unanimously adopted the motion of Mr. Blanks to amend the municipal code to include within the structure of the fire department a fire prevention bureau under the direction of the fire chief, and providing for one or more inspectors, either paid or volunteer members of the department, with the rate of compensation for their work to be determined by the city council. Also approved was amending the city's salary classification plan to provide for the inspector job.

Unanimously, again, the council voted to hold in abeyance the appointment of Robert Updike as a paid fire captain until the city code was amended in regard to the proposed structure of the fire department.

Editor's Column

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall on July 24 announced a series of grants from the Land and Water Conservation Fund to be used across the country to develop a variety of trails for bicycling, hiking, and horseback riding, all urgent recreation needs in areas where large numbers of people live.

A Carmelite, Richard Mack, wants the Monterey Peninsula to develop an intercommunity trail system and benefit from the federal allocations. He has already called one meeting and plans others to organize a system of pathways that will extend from Marina to Carmel, perhaps further. He emphasizes that, in addition to providing recreation, a Peninsula intercommunity trail system would cut traffic congestion ten percent and that this fact has been established by a survey. He also recognizes that safe pathways would help local school districts to cut bus transportation costs in some instances, thus save taxpayers' money.

In the Carmel area, pedestrian and bicycle paths are an outstanding need. Middle School is cut off from residential areas by heavily travelled Highway One and no boy or girl can safely walk or ride a bicycle to the school from Carmel, Carmel Point, Hatton Fields, Mission Fields, Carmel Hills, Carmel Woods and South Carmel Hills. This means participation in recreation or after school sports programs on this campus requires transportation by parents or the Carmel Unified School District.

This is just one example of the local need for Mr. Mack's trail system. Peninsula Boy and Girl Scout programs also would benefit immeasurably from it. There are adults who like to walk and bicycle and find that, at present, this can only be accomplished between communities on the Monterey Peninsula along roadways crowded by the inexorable automobile: roadways constructed only for vehicular traffic in accordance with the policy of the equally inexorable California Highway Commission which controls millions of dollars of gas tax funds.

The overall recreation plan for the State of California calls for some 3,000 miles of connecting trails from San Diego to the Oregon border. Already San Mateo County has been allocated $29,886 in federal funds to develop hiking and riding trails in the Belmont and Menlo Park areas. The state will match this sum.

All the Peninsula needs is an intercommunity trail plan in order to apply for similar federal and state aid. This plan is Mr. Mack's first objective. The Pine Cone hopes he gains the support of Peninsula organizations and civic bodies, also every individual who values the right of a girl or a boy on a bike, or afoot, to explore and enjoy the beauty of the Monterey Peninsula. He already has our pledge of assistance. M.L.

INVESTIGATION CONTINUES

Carmel Police are continuing to investigate an early Monday morning burglary of Surf n' Sand Pharmacy, Sixth and Torres, where entry was gained by breaking exterior plaster and using wire cutters to make a hole in the rear wall, which is obscured from sight of the street.

According to the police, $100 in cash was taken from a register, also electric razors and watches valued at $402.60. No narcotics were reported missing.

Who Shot The Car?

The Los Padres National Forest was host to approximately 30,400 deer hunters last weekend for the opening of the coastal deer season.

Only one fire occurred as a result of the hunting activity, this was in the Monterey District and was caused by a burning vehicle. Most people displayed good manners while in the forest, however, 41 notice of violations were issued. These were for open fires, which are not permitted in the Los Padres National Forest; for camping outside a designated campground; and for entering closed areas not open by permit.

There were three lost people, two people received rattlesnake bites, two persons were accidentally shot, not seriously, one red Volkswagen was shot.

BOOSTERS CLUB DONATIONS NEEDED

Junior members of the Carmel Boosters Club who wish to help sell tickets to raise funds for the high school athletic fund are urged to phone Mrs. Romayne Hill (624-6274).

A $1 donation entitles the ticket holder to a chance for a full week in Hawaii for two or to the second prize, a large marine painting by noted Carmel artist Clarence Bates. The drawing will be held September 4, which leaves only a short time for purchase of a possible winning number.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel 624-3981.

FATHER OSBORNE TO OFFER FIRST MASS AT MISSION

The Reverend Robert R. Osborne, S.M., son of Colonel R. E. Osborne of Carmel, will offer his first solemn mass in Carmel Mission Basilica on Saturday at 11 a. m. He will be joined by a number of priests in a concelebrated mass, following which there will be a reception in the Mission patio.

Present for the occasion will be his father and his sister, Mary Osborne, a teacher at Carmel River School, who traveled to Fribourg, Switzerland, to witness Father Osborne's ordination to the priesthood this Spring. The family has another reason for rejoicing — Lieutenant Peter Osborne (USAF) and his wife, now at Travis AFB, became the parents of a son, Ted, on August 1.

Father Osborne will leave soon to begin teaching at Vianney High School in St. Louis, Missouri.

PREPARE FOR HIGH SCHOOL YEAR

Warren Edwards, principal, and Miss Dorothy Wright, vice principal, prepare to receive 900 students at Carmel High School on September 6. Of these students, 750 will take six subjects daily and attend school, including lunch period, from 8:10 a.m. to 2:40 p.m. The rest of the student body will take seven subjects and remain at school until 3:35 p.m. Still open at the high school is the position of girls' counselor. The person expected to fill this position decided not to take it on Monday. This leaves the school, at present, with only one counselor, John Graham, for the entire student body.

More Pupils At Woods, Carmelo Schools Expected

Slight increase in enrollment is expected this September at Woods and Carmelo elementary schools, according to the principal of both facilities, Mrs. Anna Kohner. Last year Woods had 200 pupils and 140 attended Carmelo.

The larger number of pupils expected at Woods School will result from the board of education's decision to have children from Pebble Beach attend this kindergarten through fourth grade school. Mrs. Kohner says that the non-graded program will be continued this year at Woods.

At Carmelo School, also a K-4 facility, more pupils are expected because the school board decided children in Rancho Rio Vista and Carmel Knolls should attend this school in Lower Carmel Valley instead of River School. Team teaching and non-graded instruction will continue at Carmelo. This year, the school is part of an EDINN social studies project. Dr. Hilda Taba of San Francisco State College will be the consultant for the project financed by federal funds and employing educational innovations. Under construction on the Carmelo campus is a new school library.

Parent-Cooperative Nursery Schools

The Carmel Unified School District, as part of the Carmel Adult School family-experience program maintains two parent-cooperative nursery schools, one in Bay School, the little red schoolhouse beside Highway One south of Carmel, another in Upper Carmel Valley. Mrs. Rosa Doner is director of the one near Carmel and Mrs. Florence Johnson of the one in the Valley. All mothers are required to attend class one evening a week and fathers to donate at least six hours of work a year. Mothers also help with supervision during morning sessions.

Mrs. Doner reports that 34 children and 30 mothers will participate in the program at Bay School when it starts on September 6. A surprise for returning pupils will be a goat which has been added to the animals kept on Bay School grounds. Others are two sheep, a rabbit and chickens.

MAYOR BUYS FIRST TICKET

Carmel Mayor Steve Grant buys Athletic Season Ticket Number 1 from Doug Adams, Carmel High School senior, and co-captain of the 1965 varsity football team.

Tom Tousey, president of the Carmel Booster's Club, announces that the season tickets, covering all "home" athletic events at Carmel High School for the 1966-67 school year, are now on sale. They cost $10 and the money derived from their sale will be used to help maintain the high quality of the full athletic program at Carmel High School.

"The Booster's Club feels that a high quality, well-rounded athletic program is an essential part of the high school curriculum. When the school over-ride tax was defeated, it became necessary for people who are interested in Carmel youngsters to help. I honestly believe that there are hundreds of Carmel residents who voted against the over-ride tax who would not want to jeopardize the effectiveness of the high school athletic program. We know we can count on the people of the Carmel Unified School District to support this season ticket sale, whether they have a high schooler or not," Mr. Tousey says.

The tickets may be purchased at the Carmel High School office, Camera Craft Shop, and the Rinky Dink. They may be ordered by mail from Joseph Ward, Rt. 3, Box 384, Carmel. All checks should be made out to the Carmel High School Athletic Fund.

FOR AFS COMMITTEE

The Carmel Rotary Club has appointed Carl Vetter as their representative on the committee established by the Carmel chapter of the American Field Service, to process applications and interview applicants from Carmel who wish to study abroad under the AFS program. Mr. Vetter has exceptional qualifications for such a position since he has done engineering work in the Orient and other parts of the world and understands the type of young American who can best represent us.

White Oaks' Current Production Seldom Equalled On Local Stage

BY DOROTHY REED

Originality, freshness and style distinguish White Oaks Theatre's current production of "Stop The World, I Want To Get Off." A talented cast, expert direction and design, and a musical score that is always lively and occasionally inspired, create a performance seldom equalled in Peninsula playhouses.

The show, written by Lesiie Bricusse and Anthony Newley, details the life of Littlechap, the Cockney boy who in a fashion represents all men. Not much is unfamiliar in the way of events: Littlechap is born to poverty and wants to be rich, he marries the boss' daughter, is successful in business, sires a family and becomes estranged from them, looks for a girl to understand him. Moving into politics, he achieves knighthood, then succumbs to the inevitable heart attack and returns to his wife. It all strikes him as pretty empty in the end; his hope lies in the future of his grandson.

Along the way, however, the songs and action comment pointedly and gleefully on such subjects as social customs, business methods, sex mores, national and international attitudes, political gullibility and governmental fatuousness.

John O'Connell does an impressive job as Littlechap, playing in clown's whiteface with much use of pantomime. He doesn't exactly sing, but puts his numbers over effectively in a half-spoken, Rex Harrison-type style. Mary Pattie plays all his romantic partners, as he continually pursues the same woman in different guises—a British young lady, a Russian guide, a German housemaid, a Polish-American night club entertainer. She shows great versatility and appeal, a lovely voice, and a flair for satire.

Linda Poser and Karen Gjording, as Littlechap's daughters, carry off the difficult job of developing from infants to adults without a costume change.

The chorus, who function as factory workers, bridesmaids, retired invalids, members of parliament and any other extras that happen to be needed, are every one of solo quality, which explains much of the production's smoothness. With equal ease they appear as a faceless group or a collection of individuals, and their singing and dancing are professional. Linda Boblitt, Karla Heinz, Peggy Hewitt, Sandra Lundwall and Katie Russell fill these parts.

The setting, like the play, is an abstraction—a ring, a revolving platform, a stairway to the stars. Lighting substitutes for physical divisions onstage and takes the place of a curtain. Designer Jack Simon and director Gale Peterson have collaborated to create the maximum of effects with these sketched-in surroundings. The costumes by Corliss Nickerson include a number of ingenious accessories for the chorus and a trio of Mondrian-inspired dresses for the principals that both identify and depersonalize.

The music, under the direction of Ray Warren, who also plays the piano and is accompanied by Thomas Janusz on bass and Gregory Janusz on drums, is half the show. In fact, our favorite character of all is Littlechap's father-in-law who has no presence but a spotlight and speaks only through the bass viol. His conversation is amazing.

Delightful as it is, "Stop The World" is not entirely a family show—at least not for youngsters less knowing than Littlechap's daughter who explains gently, "But, Daddy, you don't have to be pregnant to get married."

The play will occupy the White Oaks stage Thursday through Sunday evenings until September 4. Curtain time is 8:30.

Forest Theater Children's Play Saturday, Sunday

Children's voices once again will be heard on the outdoor Forest Theater stage when "Mr. Bunt" is presented on Saturday and Sunday nights at 8:30 p.m. Several adults will round out the cast of boys and girls ranging in age from five to 14 years. The fairy tale play, written by the late Ira "Rem" Remsen, was first given over 40 years ago in the same pine woods setting. Sponsoring the 1966 production are the Carmel Arts Commission and the Carmel Unified School District summer recreation program.

"Mr. Bunt" is being co-directed by Gail Dowling and Cole Weston. Children in the cast have been rehearsing since June 27. Their mothers have worked to create the costumes for this production with the help of Dale Lefler. The sets, designed and painted by Marlinde von Ruhs, have required the combined construction skills of families and friends of the children in the production.

Members of the "Mr. Bunt" cast are Mary Thomas as Rose; Nina Alberts, Annie; Richard Andante, Dabs; Marci Cain, Mrs. Geshisish; Gail Dowling and Susy Smith, Owl; Rae Hutches, Gyem; Jo Alberts, Buttons; Harry Leinen, Gateman; Tim Thomas, Sandman; Rhys Weston, Mr. Bunt; Tina Benedict, Lu; Fenn Horton, Danny; Ed Mahan, Jim; Patrick Cummings, Milk Boy.

The roles of fairies will be taken by Lucy and Ana Aranda, Robbie Glen, Jean Goblirsch, Sharon Hentges, Lisa Porch, Cara Weston, Alison and Susan Work.

Tickets may be obtained at the Forest Theater on the evenings of the performances. They will cost 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

CUSD Students Given Psychological Help

Psychological services are provided for students needing such help in the Carmel Unified School District by means of an agreement between the board of education and the Superintendent of Schools for Monterey County, Ed Coffin. During the 1966-67 academic year, the county superintendent's office will provide psychologists in Carmel district for three days each week. This is the same amount of service as we provided last year and proved most satisfactory. The Carmel districts will pay the county $8,250 for this service.

POLICE CHIEF, JUDGE DISCUSS COURT RULINGS

Carmel Police Chief Clyde Klaumann was the speaker at last Tuesday's Cosmos Club luncheon meeting. He told how police officers' ability to arrest has been constantly eroded by decisions handed down by higher courts taking precedence over the law.

With Chief Klaumann's usual efforts to be fair and present both sides of a situation, he obtained Monterey County Superior Court Judge Gordon Campbell as speaker for Carmel Rotary Club's Wednesday luncheon meeting. Judge Campbell discussed erroneous beliefs regarding courts and defended the courts. He said it is the courts' job to uphold the constitution. If the people do not agree with court decisions in conformance with the constitution, they should change the constitution.

Tax Up Two Cents

the library board, volunteered to reduce the library budget by $5,320. This was accomplished by using library assets to pay for a $2,720 furniture and equipment item, reducing the building supplies item by $100 and raising the anticipated library revenue figure by $2,500. This left the library budget at $73,973 of which $840, the rent the library pays the city for a room at Sunset Center, will return to the city as income.

At the end of the budget session, Mayor Grant emphasized that all budget items which deal with "culture" will account for 50 cents of the new tax rate. This includes maintenance and repair, operation and capital outlay expenses of the library, Arts Commission, Sunset Commission, Forest Theater, Sunset Center, also the 50th anniversary celebration of the incorporation of the city in October.

The $32,893 budgeted for 1966-67 to amortize the bonds for the Sunset Center purchase, also the $416,952 budgeted for the construction and equipment of the new police station, corporation yard and public works facility, will not affect the tax rate as these costs will be paid with hostelry tax revenue.

Before beginning budget study, last night, the council adopted a resolution allowing residents of the Mission Tract 2 area to start annexation proceedings with the understanding that, if they complete the annexation, property owners in this area above Carmel Mission Basilica between Rio Road and Dolores Street, will bear an equal burden of taxation with residents of the city for any authorized or outstanding indebtedness for municipal improvements at the time of annexation.

The council also set October 5 as the date of a public hearing on the removal of wires and poles for undergrounding P. G. and E. utility service in an irregular area extending from Sixth Street, along Ocean, down Mission, along Seventh across San Carlos to Dolores, then up San Carlos to the point of origin. All property owners affected, also the P. G. and E. will be notified of the hearing by the city clerk.

Hassetts' Golden Wedding

Former Carmel residents Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Hassett celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Monday while visiting their daughter, Mrs. Marilyn L. Howard, at her home in Mountain View. The Hassetts recently sold the Carmel residence, which was their home for 11 years, to move to San Jose to be near Mrs. Howard and the grandchildren.

It was 51 years ago this week that Jack Hassett began his courtship of a young lady named Gladys Lomax at the Panama Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco. The times, as well as the background of Miss Lomax, required that Jack formally ask her hand in marriage from her Virginia-born father. After fortifying himself to face the Southern gentleman, he was granted the privilege and the couple was married, eight months after the closing of the exposition in San Francisco, on August 15, 1916.

Since that date, Jack has had a varied business career, with his wife always at his side sharing his ups and downs and providing the necessary inspiration for his endeavors.

At the beginning, he was a public utilities purchasing agent in San Francisco, later established his own tire sales business in Los Angeles, where the couple made their home from 1924 to 1948. After a period as a building contractor in Las Vegas, Nevada, he retired in 1954 to live in Carmel. Retirement, however, was not to his taste, and he turned his house-building talents to the San Jose area to build a number of tract units.

Now a frequent visitor to Carmel with his wife, Jack Bassett is enjoying a well-earned rest and the good wishes of his many friends on the couple's happy anniversary.

Anniversary Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Johnson of Olympia, Washington, have been visiting on the Peninsula with their five-month-old son, Derek, who has been the center of much attention from his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Arnold of Pacific Grove and Dr. and Mrs. Reuben Johnson of Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

While here, the visitors were honored on the occasion of their sixth wedding anniversary at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. George B. Turner at their home in Rancho Rio Vista. In addition to the senior Johnsons and the Grovers, guests who enjoyed the evening were Doug's brothers, Rod and Kent Johnson, Hope Patrick, Day Gustafsen, John Gratiot Jr., Sherrill Springer of Lincoln, Nebraska and William Beaudette.

Doug has been in California to check asbestos mines in connection with air pollution. The family is en route to Cincinnati, where he will be employed with the U. S. Public Health Department.

Married In Carmel

On their return from a honeymoon in Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Ross Pierce, will move into their new home in Palo Alto where Mr. Pierce will begin graduate study for a Ph.D. at Stanford.

They were married on August 6 at the Church of the Wayfarer by the Reverend Alexander C. Bryans before a large gathering of family and friends. Mrs. Pierce, the former Lorri Wilson Huszagh, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wilson of Carmel. Her father gave her marriage and she was attended by her sister, Mrs. Richard Patton Esterly of Grass Valley, as matron of honor, and by her two children Deborah Ann and Robert Wilson Huszagh.

The bride's dress was of beige lace over champagne crepe. It was designed with a long bodice, slightly flared skirt, long sleeves and worn with a jacket. Her hat was a small circle of light beige velvet and veiling. Her bouquet was of yellow rosebuds.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. A. V. Pierce and the late Mrs. Dova M. Pierce of Atlanta, Georgia, graduated with an A. B. from Harvard in 1956, and from Stanford in 1962 with an M.B.A. He is presently assistant professor of management at the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey. His best man was Captain Sherwin W. Blandin, USN, of Monterey and the ushers were William S. Luring of Santa Clara, and William Kiggins of Latrobe, Pennsylvania.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Esterly, was dressed in green with a small circle hat of green satin and veiling and green shoes. Her bouquet was of yellow and brown orchids. The bride's daughter, Deborah, eight, was prettily clad in a white dress of eyelet embroidery and carried a bouquet of white and yellow rosebuds. The bride's mother, Mrs. Wilson, wore a two-piece light beige knit and a small pillbox hat of beige and brown velvet. Her corsage was of brown orchids.

The wedding reception was held at Highlands Inn. There was a four-tiered cake decorated with yellow and white rosebuds. Yellow and white roses, white carnations and gardenias were used around the room.

The wedding was the occasion for reunions in both families. The bridegroom's father came West from Atlanta. The bride's sister, Mrs. Donald R. Bajuk, flew from Midway Island with her children, Laura, four, and John, three. Mrs. Esterly arrived from Grass Valley with her husband and her two children, Ricky, five, and Lynne, two.

Other out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. John Bajuk of Alameda, Mrs. Glen Chrisman of Pasadena, Lieutenant Gary Hosey, University Park, Maryland, and Mr. and Mrs. William W. Esterly of Grass Valley.

The new Mrs. Pierce, as a widow, came to Carmel a year ago with her two children to live with her parents. She is a graduate of Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce will be at home in Palo Alto at 3638 Bryant Street in September.

Karen Coleman Wed

Karen Alexis Coleman became the bride of Donald Anthony Bell of Berkeley in the Erdman Memorial Chapel at Robert Louis Stevenson School on Sunday. The Reverend C. E. Wilson read the 2 p.m. service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Basil A. Coleman of Pacific Grove, chose a white organza gown. Imported Swiss embroidery formed the sleeves, also trimmed the skirt which extended into a train. She wore a Camelot hat with a shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and gypsophelia.

Lynn Shackelton was honor maid. Bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Lissa Coleman, and Mrs. John Lundberg and Mrs. Warren Truitt, Jr. They were dressed alike in yellow crepe empire gowns with crochet lace tops. Their flowers were yellow and white chrysanthemums.

John Lundberg served as best man and seating the guests were Grant Sungar, Thomas Hofmann and Ruy Pereira.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Leonard J. Parsons of El Cerrito, wore a two-piece dress of powder blue crepe with matching accessories, and Mrs. Edward J. Bell, mother of the new benedict, was clad in a seafoam green crepe gown and an emerald green velvet hat.

A reception followed at Del Monte Lodge, where the rooms were decorated in white and yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride is a graduate of Berkeley High School and the University of Puerto Rico.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Bell of Berkeley are parents of the groom. He graduated from Berkeley High School and Armstrong Business College.

The newlyweds will make their home in El Cerrito.

Honeymoon At Tahoe

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hunter Hyndman, whose marriage was an event of August 13 are spending their honeymoon at Lake Tahoe.

The wedding of the former Sharon August, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony C. August of Carmel, and Bruce Hunter Hyndman, grandson of Mrs. John H. Fuller of Carmel, was solemnized before the altar at the Church of the Wayfarer with the Reverend George D. Greer officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a pale green saki gown, fashioned in floor length princess style with a bateau neckline, elbow sleeves, and cascading tiers accented by an elegant Venise lace falling from the back of the waistline. Her illusion veil was caught by a Juliet cap of peau de soie and lace and she carried a bouquet of white roses and gardenias.

Her attendants, Jan Gosar of San Francisco, as maid of honor, and Serene del Pozo of Antioch, her roommate at San Jose State College, wore matching Empire gowns of green saki. Their headpieces were illusion bows with a short circular veil and they carried yellow rosebuds.

Airman Hyndman's best man was his brother Nelson James Hyndman of Yuba City. His cousin, William Hill, served as usher.

The bride's mother wore a mint green ensemble of peau de soie with a corsage of gardenias. The bridegroom's grandmother chose to wear a dress of dusty rose lace with an orchid corsage.

After the ceremony there was a dinner-reception at Pine Inn. where a three tier wedding cake with traditional bell topping was served.

Yellow gladiolas and white chrysanthemums were used as floral decorations both at the church altar and at the reception.

The bride was graduated from Rock Springs High School, Wyoming, and attended San Jose State. The bridegroom graduated from Carmel High School and was a student at Monterey Peninsula College. He is now serving in the United States Air Force and in September will be stationed in Duluth, Minnesota, where he and his bride will make their temporary home.

Among the relatives of the young couple who were present for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson James Hyndman of Yuba City, Mrs. Artemis August of Salt Lake City, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Mike August of Rock Springs, Wyoming, with her daughters, Antoinette and Mary Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Larimore of Los Banos and Mr. and Mrs. John Larimore of Montrose, Colorado.

Schoeninger Family Reunion

Mrs. Joseph Schoeninger's home on Scenic Drive near Carmel Point is the setting for a happy family reunion. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Corazzo—Mrs. Corazzo being the former Gretchen Schoeninger—and Mr. Corazzo a distinguished painter drove out from their home in Chesterton, Indiana, bringing their daughters Nina and Michele on a pre-school holiday visit with their grandmother and also with their aunt, Miss Hester Schoeninger of Monterey. They will return home in time for their elder daughter Nina to enroll for her sophomore year at the University of Indiana.

Meanwhile they are off this week for a cruise on the San Joaquin Delta with Miss Hester Schoeninger who keeps her cabin cruiser berthed at Bethel Island and makes frequent use of it. Another member of the party will be Miss Faith Conklin. Miss Schoeninger has just now retired after many years of teaching physical education at the Monterey High School.

Barbara Schuler A Bride

Barbara Schuler of Carmel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Schuler of Redwood City, became the bride of Michael R. De Silva on August 6 at a 1 p.m. double ring ceremony performed at Carmel Mission Basilica by Reverend Roger J. Dieudonne.

The bride's Empire wedding gown was of lace over white peau de soie fashioned with long sleeves, bateau neckline and detachable chapel train. Her six-tiered illusion veil was held by a pearl and lace tiara. She carried white gardenias and pink baby rosebuds.

Susan Davis, maid of honor, and bridesmaids Debbie De Silva, the groom's sister, and Janet Cadonan wore floor length pink linen Empire style dresses. Their pink face veils were caught by fresh gardenias and they carried bouquets of pink carnations and roses.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin J. De Silva of San Bernardino, had his brother, Jack De Silva, as best man. Clark Drake and Steve Rolston were ushers.

The mother of the bride was clad in a pale blue lace dress and jacket with matching veiled shell hat. Her flowers were white carnations and roses.

Mrs. De Silva, mother of the bridegroom ,selected an olive green and powder blue ensemble with a pale blue feathered pill box hat. Her flowers also were white carnations and roses. Rene and Debbie De Silva accompanied their parents to their brother's wedding.

A reception at the San Carlos Hotel in Monterey followed the service at the Mission. The three-tiered wedding cake was surrounded by flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. De Silva, honeymooning at Lake Tahoe, will return to make their home at 845 Lyndon Street in Monterey. Mrs. De Silva attended San Jose State and Monterey Peninsula College. Her husband, a graduate of the Colorado School of Mines, is at present a student at the Defense Language Institute.

Exchange Politics for Pines

Once again, Eugene and Phyllis Theroux have made their annual trip to Carmel, to catch up on the many friends they made during the three years they lived here. Now residents of Washington D.C., where Phyllis works in the Justice Department, and Eugene directs the Independent Research Service, they happily left politics for pines, an exchange which, they said, "Keeps us going for the rest of the year."

Eugene, formerly a first lieutenant in the U. S. Army at the Language School, and Phyllis, who taught ethics at Santa Catalina School for Girls, were only in Carmel for five days, but they managed to give a party for 35 people on Saturday night, and spend Sunday in Big Sur with their close friend, Senator Fred Farr.

Phyllis' younger sister, Wendy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grissim of Carmel, stayed with the Therouxs for two months this summer, working part time at the Justice Department and part time at the Independent Research Service. The three of them drove out from the East together.

Moores Home Again

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Moore are back in their home on Scenic Drive near Carmel Point after many months in the Far East. Mr. Moore, working as a consultant on airport construction, had his base at Clark Field near Manila and from there ranged afield to Taiwan, Thailand and Viet Nam. In April his wife Elizabeth joined him in Saigon which she found to be "a lovely place for a vacation in more peaceful times." On their voyage home the Moores stopped in the Philppines and Japan with their last stop Anchorage, Alaska. While in the Philippines they had the good luck to meet their son, Commander William F. Moore of the Navy Air Force, whose ship, the U.S.S. Constellation, put into Subic Bay.

Colonel Culin Due Home

Lieutenant Colonel John Culin will be joining his family in Carmel late in September after serving for a year in Viet Nam. His wife and two children, John and Susan,—(Nancy, their elder daughter will have entered San Jose College by then) his parents, Major General and Mrs. Frank Culin, and his wife's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Rolf L. Bolin, will all be in Carmel to welcome him home. Colonel Culin's new assignment is to the Pentagon in Washington D. C. where he and Mrs. Culin will go leaving John and Susan in school in Carmel until their housing problem has been solved in Washington.

PARTY PLANS . . .

By Phyllis Jervey

JUNIORS IN THE KITCHEN

Ah, the hunger of youth for learning and good food! After a summer of beaching, traveling, camping and outdoor activities, it's "in" to return to the classroom and kitchen with enthusiasm. An interesting example was the Junior Home Economics Division of the Monterey County Fair. What luscious looking cakes and cookies were on display inside the glassed cases. These had been entered by young cooks with the assurance of seasoned bakers.

Although PARTY PLANS did not receive the recipes of the prize winners, we are giving worthy substitutes for both junior and seniors to pack into lunch boxes.

Boys enjoy experimenting in the kitchen just as much as girls do as the above winners prove. Let's start off with "easy do" directions for these favorites.

REFRIGERATOR COOKIES
(Makes 6 dozen)

One pkg. white, yellow, honey, spice or chocolate devil's food cake mix; ¼ cup soft shortening; 1 medium egg; 2 tbsps. water.

Mix all ingredients thoroughly with hands, adding ½ cup each cut-up dates and nuts, if desired. Press and mold into a long smooth roll about 2 inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper and chill until stiff (several hours). Heat oven to 375 F. With a thin sharp knife, cut cookie dough into 1/8 inch slices. Place a little apart on ungreased baking sheet. Bake about 6 minutes, until delicately browned. Store in cookie jar or box.

SUGAR COOKIES
(Makes 3 dozen)

Half cup shortening; ½ tsp. salt; 1 tsp. grated lemon rind; 1 cup sugar; 1 egg, unbeaten; 2 tbsps, milk; 2 cups sifted flour; 1 tsp. baking powder; ½ tsp. soda; powdered nutmeg.

Heat oven to 400 F. Blend together the first four ingredients. Beat in the egg and milk; stir in the flour, baking powder and soda. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls on lightly greased baking sheet. Grease bottom of a glass. Dip glass in sugar and flatten each cookie. Sprinkle cookies with nutmeg. Bake about 10 minutes (no longer) until light golden. Cool on rack.

For the lunch box (on which we are now concentrating) it is best to take cake squares rather than a slice of layer cake. Cupcakes are also easily carried.

SCHOOL CHOCOLATE SQUARES

Two squares unsweetened (2 oz.) chocolate, cut up; ½ cup boiling water; 1 cup sifted cake flour; 1 cup sugar; ½ tsp. baking powder; ½ tsp. salt; ¼ cup soft shortening; ¼ cup buttermilk or sour milk; ½ tsp. vanilla extract: 1 egg, unbeaten.

Heat oven to 350 F. Grease well and dust with flour one square pan 8x8x2. Stir chocolate and water in mixing bowl until chocolate is melted. Sift dry ingredients together and stir in. Add shortening. Beat 1 minute, medium speed, on mixer. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl constantly. Add buttermilk, vanilla, egg. Beat 1 more minute. Pour into prepared pan. Bake 35 to 40 minutes, until top springs back when lightly touched. When cool, frost with your favorite frosting.

RAISIN ORANGE BREAD

2¼ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
1 cup California seedless raisins
2 tablespoons grated orange peel
1 well beaten egg
½ cup milk
½ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons cooking oil

Resift flour with baking powder, soda, salt and sugar. Stir in raisins and orange peel. Combine egg, milk, orange juice and oil. Add to first mixture: stir only until flour is dampened and raisins well distributed. Turn into greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour. Cool in pan 10 minutes; then turn out on rack and let stand until cool. Makes 1 loaf.

We have put the frosting before the cake as far as telling about lunch-box meals. So now for the facts to remember when packing a lunch. These can be dull and unappetizing or attractive. A Four-Star Lunch Box is easy to clean, supplied with vacuum bottle, good to see and durable. As for the contents, we give some suggestions for foods that carry well.

Good soups, especially cream of tomato or vegetable are not only nourishing but young people actually insist on them! With so many canned soups available all that the packer needs to know is to have the soup piping hot when it goes into the thermos. Add some saltines or other nibblers. Keep a list of sandwiches so the same ones won't pop up twice in a row. Here is a fine raisin and orange bread which may be spread with cream cheese and jelly or any variation of creamy peanut butter.

Celery, carrot sticks, radishes (no green onions) make good lunch-box food, and instead of dessert, dried fruits such as dates, prunes, apricots. Fresh fruits, especially in California, are favored over rich puddings and such.

So much for school lunch boxes. How about a get-together over the weekend for youngsters who have been separated all summer and to greet newcomers? Tuna and meat "Hideaways" make a substantial offering and are easy to prepare and serve. With any of the cookies or cake just given and soft drinks this makes a satisfying supper for junior games, TV watching or teen-age disc-dancing.

TUNA AND MEAT HIDEAWAYS

Tuna filling: 2 cans (6½ oz., each) tuna; 1 cup finely shredded iceberg lettuce; onion juice to taste; 1 grated peeled carrot; 1 dill pickle, chopped fine; ½ cup minced celery; mayonnaise and lemon juice; salt and paprika to taste; 12 frankfurter or hamburger buns.

Mix ingredients and fill each split bun with mixture. Wrap in foil and heat in moderate oven just before serving. Eat in foil wrapper minus cutlery. Look, Ma, no dishwashing!

Meat filling: 1 can (12 oz.) luncheon meat, finely chopped; ½ cup Cheddar cheese, shredded; 1/3 cup chopped stuffed green or plain ripe olives; 1 tbsp. minced chopped onion or onion juice to taste; 2 hard cooked eggs, chopped; mayonnaise and catsup combined to moisten; 12 frankfurter or hamburger rolls.

Combine meat, cheese, olives, onion, egg, mayonnaise and catsup and mix lightly. Split buns through. Fill with about 1/3 cup mix for each bun. Wrap in foil and heat in 400 F. oven until warmed through. Serve in foil.

So have fun—for "manana" we study!

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says, "Law enforcement today is being degraded, purposely in many instances, by the widespread and indiscriminate use of the term 'police brutality.'"

OFF TO LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

Four Carmel High School seniors, Jerri Stoneson, Jean Hudelson, Steve Meadows and Brian Cronwall left August 14 for the Youth Leadership Conference at the University of California at Davis, an annual meeting arranged by the American Red Cross for young people throughout the central part of the state. The representatives from Carmel are sponsored by the Carmel-by-the-Sea chapter of the Red Cross. They were accompanied to Davis by Mrs. Leo Tanous, chairman for youth activities of the local chapter. In preparation for the course the participants attended an orientation course in Carmel.

L'Alliance Francaise Activities In August

L'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula will attend, en masse, the "vernissage" (pre-view) of the show of French artist Emile Lahner at The Laky Galleries tomorrow.

A Parisian, the artist has a large following in this country. "He is one of our greatest lyric painters. He is not only a painter of class, he is a classic painter," said a Paris-Jour critic. The current exhibit presents paintings executed in the course of several trips to Brittany, the south of France and the French Pyrenees.

On Sunday at 8 p.m. at the Institute of Foreign Studies in Monterey there will be a special showing of the Swiss film "Quand nous etions petits enfants." This is an appealingly fresh film about life in the Neuchatel Jura mountains with superb photography and excellent dialogue. It won a prize at the Locarno Festival. The French speaking public is invited, gratis, to spend a most pleasant evening.

The next French conversation tea for members of the local Alliance will take place on August 25 at 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. George E. Davis, Thirteenth Avenue and Dolores Street.

Co-hostess will be Mrs. David Pitfield. For reservations telephone 624-7004 or 624-9485. Mrs. Pitfield will fly to Barcelona, Spain, on August 28 to spend three weeks with her family. While there Mrs. Jehanne Salinger-Carlson will visit her. Mrs. Carlson is spending until October traveling in Europe.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

"Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite." This well-known verse from Psalm 147 is the Golden Text for this week's Bible Lesson-Sermon on "Mind" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

Included among the explanatory readings from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will be these lines; "Nothing is new to Spirit. Nothing can be novel to eternal Mind, the author of all things, who from all eternity knoweth His own ideas. Deity was satisfied with His work. How could He be otherwise, since the spiritual creation was the outgrowth, the emanation, of His infinite self-containment and immortal wisdom?"

Candy Stripers Help At Hospital

"Careers in Nursing" was the subject of a talk given recently to the Candy Stripers on duty at the Community Hospital by Miss Barbara Palmerton, head of the nursing department, Hartnell College, Salinas.

The Candy Stripers are comprised of 50 high school girls between 16 and 18 years old who are affiliated with the Community Hospital Auxiliary for voluntary service during their summer vacation, or all year if they have the time. Some 24 of them heard Miss Palmerton's talk which was arranged by Mrs. Merill Passey, chairman of the Candy Striper organization. Since many of the girls are thinking of future nursing careers, they showed great interest in Miss Palmerton's explanation of state nursing programs and the various branches and requirements of nursing.

In the four years since the organization was founded, several of the members have actually gone on to careers in nursing. One Candy Striper from Carmel, Nancy Culin, a June graduate from Carmel High School, is entering San Jose State on September 16 to take courses in nursing. Three other Carmel girls in the group, also Carmel High graduates in 1966, are going away to college this Fall. Constance Norwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Norwick, will enroll at Scripps College in Claremont on September 24 to continue her work in foreign languages. Barbara Pearson will major in art at San Jose State College. She will also take courses in the new Center for Speech and Hearing Therapy which came into existence this year. Barbara is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Pearson. The fourth Candy Striper to leave with the expectation of perhaps returning later on as a Pink Lady, is Nancy Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Thompson. She will be going to the University of California at Davis.

Carmel girls still active in the Candy Striper group are Katie Apger, Martha Crow, Diane Davis, Kim Dennis, Mary Ann Vasconcellos, Marcia Adams, Vicki Bell, Bonnie Miller, Margaret Lefler and Janet Sprague.

AWARD WINNERS AT FAIR

A Carmel artist, S. C. Yuan, was given the "Best In Show" award in the traditional section of the 1966 Monterey County Fair Fine Arts Show for his oil "Nazare."

Jeanette Bedwell won a first in modern watercolor and Sam Colburn a third in the same class. Ralph Jacobs took a first in traditional oil painting; Mrs. L. E. Churchill a third; and Ruth Jordan Allan a fourth. In this class Stan Spohn was accorded honorable mention.

In the traditional sculpture class, honorable mention was given to Howell Armor, Eve Bell, Joey Bow, Mike Hutchinson and Kenneth W. Wiese. William Gorham won a fourth in the modern sculpture class.

In the traditional graphics class, Leslie Emery took a second and Louise Boyer a third. Olof Dahlstrand received honorable mention.

Honorable mention went to the work of Alex Gonzales and Rima Waldman in the modern graphics class. Rima Waldman also won a third in modern oil painting class.

Gerard F. Aken was given honorable mention in the traditional watercolor class.

Jeffery Fiskin, a student at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies, took a first in modern graphics. His mother ended a visit in Carmel this week.

"Best In Class Awards" in the county fair crafts exhibition were given to Richard Frye, ceramics; Marcia McGinnis, stitched decoration; Florence Clayton, weaving; John Donahue, mosaic panel.

Others who won awards in the crafts division were Eve Bell, Howell Armor, Frank Bell, Tina Benedict, Edgar Bissantz, John M. Calder, Kay Clark, Dora C. Crabtree, Charles M. Daniels, Joan W. Donohue, Beth Garcia, William H. Gorham, Doney B. Knight, Wendy Knight, Bob McGinnis, Dorothy H. McIntyre, Hazel McClellan, Flora M. Meyer, Margaret D. Mixer, Doris Paul, Lea Rhinehart, Alice Robertson, John W. Robertson, Gunnel Sedletzky, Stan Spohn, Carol Weston, Kenneth Wiese and Roger F. Wiley.

At the July meeting of the board of directors of the Monterey Chapter of the American Federation of Arts a recommendation to change the name of this organization to the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art was passed. Under the new name, the organization will continue its membership with the AFA, also the Western Association of Art Museums and the American Federation of Museums. It is hoped that the membership of the local AFA chapter will support this recommendation.

Beginning Monday evening, a 16-week series of life drawing classes will be held at the Laky School of Art. Charles de Groat of Big Sur will be the instructor.

Artists from every San Francisco Bay Area county and as far away as Los Angeles have entered the Glen Ellen Art Festival and will set up their displays August 20-21 in Glen Ellen, the gateway to the Jack London Historic State Park. Colorful ribbons will be awarded for "Best in the Show," and for "best" in eight other categories. The judges are Mrs. Margaret Sibley and Mrs. Rosinda Holmes.

The most comprehensive exhibition of American paintings ever shown on the West Coast opened Tuesday at the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum in San Francisco. Entitled "American Paintings from The Metropolitan Museum of Art," the exhibition includes 125 paintings selected from the permanent collection of the Metropolitan and surveys the history of paintings in this country from the early 18th century to 1919.

Famous American artists over a period of nearly 200 years are represented by some of their best works. Among them are Copley, Stuart, West, Peale, Homer, Eakins, Ryder, Harnett, Whistler, Sargent, Cassatt, Chase, Hassam and Bellows.

50 Years Ago in Carmel

—THIS WEEK—

DISTINGUISHED MEN VISIT CARMEL

A remarkable coterie of distinguished educators motored down from San Francisco to spend Sunday with Professor Preston W. Search. In the party were William M. Davidson, superintendent of schools in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Arthur W. Dunn, U. S. Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C.: Will Earhart, director of music and president of the Pittsburgh Fine Arts Society; August Hiller, accountant and statistician, University of Pittsburgh; Arthur Roncovieri, superintendent, and A. J. Cloud, deputy superintendent, of the San Francisco school system. All expressed themselves as charmed by the surpassing beauty of Carmel.

The visit ended with Dr. Roncovieri playing trombone, Freddie Search, cello, Mrs. Search, piano, as everyone sang "When You Come To The End of a Perfect day."

Then the visitors motored to the Mission, where, schoolboy-like, Dr. Davidson climbed the tower and awakened the denizens of the valley and spirits of the past, at midnight, by ringing the Mission bell.

ANNUAL LIBRARY REPORT

Circulation is 8,875, the largest in the history of Carmel. Registry has been brought up to date. New shelves for the librarian and a new table and chairs for children have been secured. Electric lights have been installed. The library has been cleaned and rearranged for extra shelf space. During the rainy season, the library was open on Sunday afternoon for readers. A change of librarians took place on October 1, 1915, when Mrs. Sydney Yard succeeded Miss Stella L. Vincent. The services of an assistant became necessary during the summer and Miss Janet Prentiss began work on June, 1916. A total of 383 books have been added and 294 cardholders.

Library work has gone on with the utmost smoothness. The affairs of the library have never been in more prosperous condition, nor has its usefulness to the community ever been greater than now.

(This report was submitted by Emmeline Harrington, recording secretary for the board of trustees and members of the Carmel Library Association.)

VICTROLA FUND

Walter B. O'Connell, dramatic reader, has prepared a splendid program for rendition on Friday evening at the Arts and Crafts Hall to raise the $30 still needed to purchase a victrola for Sunset School.

New Teachers Hired For District

When students return to the various campuses of the Carmel Unified School District this Fall they will find new faces among their instructors. The board of education has hired 17 new teachers for the 1966-67 academic year.

CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL

Mrs. Susan Dean, a graduate of Mills College will teach Spanish in the coming year at Carmel High School. Biology will be taught by Ralph Kahl who has a master's degree from the University of California in Los Angeles and has taught for three years in Los Angeles schools. Colonel Bert Nishimura, who is retiring from the U. S. Army, will be a history instructor. He has a B.A. degree from the University of Hawaii and is presently stationed in Alaska. Victor Selby, a graduate of the University of Colorado who is now obtaining California teaching credentials at San Jose State College, will teach mathematics.

CARMEL MIDDLE SCHOOL

Seven new teachers will be added to the staff at Carmel Middle. Miss Patricia Archer, a graduate of the University of California at Davis, will teach science next year. Ralph Blumenthal whose previous teaching experience was in the American elementary school in Rota, Spain, will be a physical education, social studies and English teacher. Another social studies teacher will be John Collins who has an M.S. degree from the State University of New York at Albany. He has taught for five years in Ravenna, New York. A Stanford University graduate, Miss Judith Lochridge, who has taught for three and a half years in the Arcadia school district, will be a mathematics teacher.

Roland Schut, who graduated from Hope College in Michigan before teaching for five years in a junior high school in Grand Rapids, Michigan, will be a science teacher at Middle School. Mrs. Alice Jean Small of Pebble Beach will return to this country after service with the U. S. Foreign Service in Mexico to teach Spanish and typing. She has an MFA degree from the University of Washington. Reading instructor at Middle School will be Mrs. Barbara Woodsmall, who has taught for four years in Houston Independent Schools in Texas. She has a B.S. degree from the University of Houston.

RIVER SCHOOL

Two teachers will join River School staff. Mrs. Lynette Richardson, who taught last year in Eugene, Oregon, and this summer will finish work for an M. A. degree at the University of Oregon, will be at River next year. After five years in the schools of Fairborn, Ohio, Mrs. Janice Smith will come to Carmel to teach at River. She is a graduate of Pomona College.

TULARCITOS SCHOOL

New teachers at Tularcitos School will be Mrs. Evelyn Damgaard, a graduate of Whittier College, who has taught for ten years in Berkeley schools; also Miss Regina Duggan who has a BFA degree from the University of Arizona and taught for one semester at Middle School last year. Before that she was on the staff of the military dependents school in Darmstadt, Germany. A part-time teacher at Tularcitos last year, Mrs. Marlene Harris, will return for half-day service this year. She is a graduate of the University of Denver. Another part-time teacher last year, Mrs. Barbara Wilson, will join the staff this year. She has a B.S. degree from Washington State University.

Florence Curtin

Private funeral services were held last Friday for Miss Florence Curtin of Carmel at the Little-Chapel-by-the-Sea, with the Paul Mortuary in charge of arrangements. Miss Curtin who had made her home at Monte Verde and Eighth Avenue in Carmel for the past 30 years, died Wednesday of last week in a local hospital. She was born in Louisiana September 15, 1895. Her sister, Mrs. Phil Northrom of Santa Barbara survives her.

RADIO PROGRAM

"Age of Anxiety" is the title of the program to be heard this Sunday over station KDON at 8:45 a.m. It is one of the Christian Science "The Bible Speaks To You" radio series. It will offer an answer to the questions: Is fear something to live with? Is fear inevitable—a part of modern life in the "Age of Anxiety"? Or is it something that can be overcome?

Jazz Festival To Award Scholarship

Mel Isenberger, president of the board of directors of the Monterey Jazz Festival, announced last week the establishment of a musical scholarship. The total value has not been decided yet, but a minimum of $5000 will be made available. It will be used to help provide a college education for a student with an outstanding musical talent that is jazz oriented. The Lyceum of the Monterey Peninsula will arrange for the selection of the winner.

Eligible for selection are recent (2 years or less) high school graduates and those who will be graduated in June of 1967. Entrants must be from the general area of the Monterey Peninsula and play an instrument that is normally used in jazz music.

Preliminary audiences will be held this Fall with the winner to be selected early in 1967. Details regarding the auditions will be announced when arrangements for them have been completed.

The Jazz Festival hopes to make the scholarship awards annually. This will provide for a new input for college each year as well as funds for continuing and completing the educations of previous winners.

Col. Hartley Head Of Program To Give Troops In Field Dental Care

The most modern dental care is now being given to U. S. troops in the field in South Viet Nam as the result of a U. S. Air Force research program directed by Lieutenant Colonel Daniel L. Hartley at Brooks Air Force Base, Texas. Dr. Hartley is the son of Colonel Leroy P. Hartley (USA ret.) and Mrs. Hartley of Carmel and only a few days ago left for Texas after a two-week visit here, accompanied by his wife and his two daughters, Patricia and Jacqueline.

Dr. Hartley and his associate dental scientists at the Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine, after lengthy research, developed portable equipment, contained in two 24 x 18 x 8 inch suitcases, with the capability of a modern, fully equipped dental office. This was to replace the old-fashioned military field service dental units designed in World War I and only slightly modified during World War II and the Korean War.

The new portable equipment was originally sent to Viet Nam for tests but they proved immediately so successful that the Army put in orders for new units before the tests were completed. Seventy-five are now in use and 50 more are on order. "This was really a prototype," Dr. Hartley observed, "but it was so successful that it was grabbed up."

It was Dr. Hartley who began research on the possible use of air-bearings in dental equipment, replacing the old ball-bearings. His work and that of his associates resulted in an air-driven handpiece with new air-bearings and speeds up to 400,000 rpm, compared to the 4,000 rpm of the ball-bearing units. The new portable units include one waterproof, dustproof fibre glass case weighing 90 pounds. In another case, weighing 40 pounds, there is an ultra high speed, air-bearing handpiece; a ball-bearing handpiece used for cleaning teeth, a saliva ejector, a high volume aspirator, a multipurpose syringe, an operating tray, a cuspidor with flowing water, and a set of dental instruments.

Dr. Hartley, still working toward additional improvements in the units, is chief of management facilities equipment and material at the School of Aerospace Medicine. A graduate of Lowell High School in San Francisco and the University of California and the College of Physicians and Surgeons in San Francisco, Dr. Hartley is now a veteran of 20 years service. He was in the Asiatic-Pacific theatre of operation during World War II and later served with the Navy.

A Hypothesis Of Historical Geology

BY JAMES W. MOORE

About 700,000 years ago the Cenozoic, Period that geologists call Tertiary ended in a flash of fire and probably the greatest single act of violence the earth has ever experienced.

On that day, an asteroid (probably our moon) about one-fourth the diameter of the earth flashed through the atmosphere to collide with the earth in what is now the Pacific Basin. Striking from the southwest, it sliced through the earth's crust into the plastic mantle, causing pole-to-pole ruptures of the crust on the opposite side. As the earth spun away from the impact toward the east, the deflected projectile plowed a curved mountain-lined trench until it departed to the north-northwest.

The asteroid with one side deformed by its contact with the earth, the other pock-marked with craters caused by lithic splash, its total surface molten and oxidizing from friction-induced heat, wobbled off into orbit around the earth. Its center of gravity now being eccentric, it continued to spin around the earth like a ball on a string, never exposing the eroded side.

The aftermath of this holocaust on the earth was a sudden change from great heat to extreme cold. Many volcanoes erupted and large masses of granite thrust upward through ruptures in the earth's crust. Clouds of smoke and dust hid the sun over wide areas, causing rapid and severe reductions in temperature that continued for many years. Oceans poured into the newly-formed basin only to pour out again as steam. Rainfall on the land areas to the east of the basin was torrential and continuous. While rapid disintegration and erosion from this rainfall cut into the heated and shattered surfaces, great lakes formed behind the new mountain ranges.

The sudden change in environment caused the destruction of much of the existing animal and plant life in the affected areas. Some animals instantly buried were quick-frozen and remain so in lifelike positions.

With this deep trench cut through the earth's crust, lateral stability was removed, causing the land masses on either side to start and continue at a decelerating rate, to drift toward the void.

Further inland away from the heat, the Ice Age began.

Letters To The Editor . . .

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

I have some questions for the Pine Cone concerning statements made in your analysis of the city's negotiations for a $300,000 loan to make a progress payment on the new police station and temporary corporation yard.

You are now calling this a tax-interim loan. Just what is a tax-interim loan? What are the rules governing a tax-interim loan?

You say that the city is calling for bids September 1 for a loan for money to replace reserve funds that will be used during 1966-67 for payment of construction costs. I don't quite follow you, inasmuch as I have also received the impression that you expect the city to continue to receive a premium interest on time deposits. If we use our own money, we won't draw time-deposit interest. If we use the loan money, we are faced with paying back this loan money entirely by June 30, 1967. We must pay this whole sum back within a single fiscal year. And if we use the loan money for construction, we must use the reserve money to pay back the loan money within a year. Clear, isn't it? In any event, we are not going to be able to draw time-deposit interest on anything but a time-deposit. Will we have one?

You have said that the reason we are borrowing is to keep our reserves intact—that it is not sound fiscal policy to have no reserves on hand. Do you realize that, if this is a tax-interim loan, that the entire sum, not $50,000, must be repaid within the city's fiscal year? Do you realize that our reserves to the amount of $300,000 dollars will not be available to us, because we must keep this sum on hand to meet our tax-interim loan payment?

What does all this do to your argument that we are keeping our reserves to protect ourselves? When you eliminate this reason, for making what you are calling a tax-interim loan, you have eliminated entirely the need for the loan. Think it over.

Furthermore, I'll bet you a good lunch that the city fails to get an advantageous loan based on need, and the expectation that the city will be able to draw 4.8% interest on time deposits, while paying approximately 2.7% for the loan. Want to bet?

Yours sincerely,
Wallace E. Doolittle

EDITOR'S NOTE: May I refer you to the June 30 issue of the Pine Cone which explains, in detail, the city's time reserves which total $352,552, also June 23 and July 7 issues which contain more details on the tax-interim type of financing.

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

We were delighted to read your article on "Are One-Way Streets A Solution?". Traffic has increased to the point where some action must be taken. We compliment you on bringing the problem into the open. Mr. Bucquet's suggestion to restrict deliveries in the downtown area to before 10 a.m. has our whole-hearted endorsement. Williamsburg, Va. has such a plan and it works beautifully.

As to one-way streets—this would certainly be a step in the right direction, but why not go all the way and exclude vehicles from Ocean Ave. between Junipero and Monte Verde?

We must do something very soon or all charm and sanity will be forfeited through our own apathy.

Sincerely,
Kathryn C. Hunter

EDITOR'S NOTE: Unfortunately, state law will not allow the city to restrict delivery hours.

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

A recent issue of the Pine Cone requested stories about the early days of Carmel, for use in the edition celebrating the 50th anniversary of Carmel.

About 15 years ago, a few years after we moved to California and settled in Carmel Valley, I read a story about how Carmel-by-the-Sea acquired its name. I have forgotten the source of the story and have been unable to verify its accuracy, as no one of the several old time Carmelites whom I questioned, could do so.

The story I read said that present Carmel originally was known by another name. I have forgotten the name mentioned, but recall that it was a German name.

This settlement grew to the point where it required a post office and in the village. The Post Office Department acted favorably upon the request, but stated that it had an abandoned post office in the Carmel River Valley called Carmel. They would move it down to the new location and appoint a postmaster.

The story further stated that the village changed its name to Carmel-by-the-Sea in order that it not be confused with the Carmel which had been located in the upper Carmel River Valley.

The Carmel postmaster tells me that the present post office was established in 1901.

I am writing this letter hoping that some of the oldtimers will write the full story about early day Carmel and the village by another name antedating it.

Sincerely,
L. W. Klene

P.S. I visited Carmel for the first time about 1915.

Mrs. Partello

Requiem mass was celebrated on Tuesday morning at Carmel Mission Basilica for Mrs. Josephine Theresa Partello who died after a period of failing health on August 13 at a local hospital. The widow of the late Colonel Joseph Partello, she had been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Betsy Peyton at 15th Avenue and Carmelo Street. Mrs. Partello was born in Troy, New York, on March 19, 1891. She had resided in Carmel for the past 26 years.

Survivors are her daughter, Mrs. Betsy Peyton of Carmel and her grandchildren, Miss Jean Peyton of Carmel, Captain John Peyton of Fort Bragg, North Carolina, and Thomas Peyton of Carmel Valley. She is also survived by her great-grandson, John H. Peyton Jr., and a sister, Mrs. Catherine Warren who lives in Connecticut.

Interment will be in the National Cemetery at the Presidio of San Francisco. Mission Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Stanley D. Wilson

Memorial services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel for Stanley D. Wilson who died on August 12 at the age of 75 years. Reverend Robert O'Brien of the Peninsula Unitarian Church officiated. Interment will take place in Arlington National Cemetery, Virginia.

Mr. Wilson met his death as a result of a bicycle accident. He is survived by his widow, Barbara, of Carmel where he made his home for the past six years. He is also survived by a stepson, William Fickling, of Birmingham, Michigan; a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Kepkep of Orinda; a brother, P. I. Wilson of Carlisle, England; a sister, Mrs. Everill Carver of Lancashire, England; and eight grandchildren. Mr. Wilson was a native of the Isle of Man, England, and a veteran of World War I. Friends wishing to make contributions might do so to the Monterey YMCA.

John Robertson

Graveside military rites were held Tuesday morning at the Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno for John Hope Robertson, 51, who was killed in an automobile accident on the Carmel Valley road on August 12. Dorney and Farlinger were in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mr. Robertson who was born in Holdridge, Nebraska, October 9, 1914, is survived by his widow, Margaret Robertson of Carmel Valley, and a brother, Donald Robertson of North Platte, Nebraska. He had lived on the Monterey Peninsula for seven years and during that time was personnel officer at the Defense Language Institute in Monterey. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge in San Francisco and a veteran of World War II.

Coming up on the calendar—Fall Fashion Show and Luncheon, August 24, with fashions from Carmel's Derek Rayne store. Chairman of the day will be Mrs. Ethel Fiske; vice-chairman Mrs. Julian Watkins.

The calendar shows a Craft Display and Tea scheduled for early November. Jud Van de Vere brought his movies and slides last night to the Hacienda to show "The Mammals and Natural History of Point Lobos," Hal Wright, recreational publicity chairman, reports.

CANTERBURY WOODS
PACIFIC GROVE

The art work shop reports much interest. Any resident is invited to join the enthusiastic group now meeting every Wednesday morning from 10-11:30 a.m. in the Craft Room. Those attending choose their own media—sketching, water color, oils, etc.

"There is no set pattern—just come and join in the fun," says Mrs. Bell, who leads this group.

Dr. Ferdinand Haasis is acting as moderator of an informal gathering every Wednesday afternoon at 4 p.m. where many subjects are under consideration.

CARMEL VALLEY MANOR

THE TANKA CONTEST is over and Dr. Schutz spent a long time judging. He picked out five he preferred—although he did not want to specifically say which should be first, second, etc.

Here are two which he chose as excellent:

A small child runs
Thigh-high in waves of grass—
Green fluid grass afoam with daisy heads—
Pursuing butterflies
Just out of reach.

PINPOINT PROFILES
THE JUNIOR MINTS

The Junior Mints, 25 selected high school girls, who work at the Carmel Convalescent Hospital, deserve high praise for the many hours they give each week to make the lives of the patients more comfortable.

The Junior Mints were organized in July, 1965, with the aid of Mrs. H. Austing, adult advisor. Her assistant, Mrs. B. Odello, will be coming in as advisor in September of this year.

These girls have their own organization with officers of their own choosing. After they are oriented and given a handbook on hospital procedure, they are assigned to duties which include passing trays, visiting and writing letters for the patients, bringing the library cart to bedsides for patients to chose books they wish to read.

The girls are required to give two hours each week to the hospital work.

In recognition of this work, and after completing 100 hours of service, they receive a gold and enamel pin with their emblem on the front. During all of their working hours they are under the supervision of Mrs. Ritchie Patterson, R.N., administrator of the hospital.

This course offers a golden opportunity to high school girls who are interested in modern therapy planning and hospital procedures.

SECOND 'GRANDMA MOSES'

According to her son, Danny Garcia, Mrs. Margaret Rose Garcia, will probably become a second "Grandma Moses."

Mrs. Garcia, now a patient at the Carmel Convalescent Hospital, has shown great promise in painting animals, still life, and in particular, homey pastoral scenes with a primitive approach.

The other day when we visited her, she pointed to several of her recent paintings lining the corridor wall. She was showing remarkable style with accent on color coordination when she was stricken with a stroke three months ago.

Mother Garcia is 69 years of age and has lived in the Monterey Peninsula area most of her life.

"We are a painting family," she said, "I have another son, Alvin, who is a teacher in Oakland—he paints too."

Lately she had enjoyed the ceramics class at Sunset School, under the direction of instructor Robert Lynn. Here again she used her ingenuity to produce charming animal figures, her son Danny told us.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Lorna Beers spent 15 years in Vermont and these years she has condensed into one year so that the book WILD APPLES AND NORTH WIND seems to slide through one set of four seasons in a most delightful fashion. She and her husband had been summer visitors and when they moved there to stay they were referred to as "permanent summer folk." They became a part of the community and they loved it. You will enjoy this book for it is full of folk-warmth and life.

DECISION AT LEYTE gives the reader a complete account of the battles which shaped the fate of Japan in the second World War. It was written by Stanley Falk who has done other books about the war and who writes very well. There are photographs as illustrations.

According to the jacket blurb, it is an unforgettable experience to read A CHOICE OF WEAPONS by Gordon Parks. The author is a successful writer and photographer on the staff of Life magazine. He is also a composer. He also works for Vogue magazine. But this success came only after years and years of hard work, bad luck, and meal-less days. Times were hard, and the fact that Gordon Parks was a negro made them even harder. The same fact makes for hard times for him even today. This is the true story of a man with immense talent, born black and in poverty. Read A Choice of Weapons. It will do you good, and what's more, it will fascinate you.

In ADVICE FROM A FAILURE, author Jo Coudert says "Of all the people you will know in a lifetime, you are the only one you will never leave or lose. To the question of your life, you are the only answer. To the problems of your life, you are the only solution." And of course she is right. This is perhaps a book to own, because while reading it you will want to mark passages. And you will want to go back to certain marked passages again and again. Buy a copy. Don't mark up the library copy. The book is divided into three sections. They are called (1) To Know, (2) To Be, and (3) To Act. Under these general headings, the table of contents lists a sort of rundown of all the subjects handled. This too, is refreshing for the person who wants to dash back for a re-run. This is practical psychology written for the everyday sort of person with problems. So who doesn't have problems?

We have a new decorating book by Estelle H. Riss which is entitled HOME DESIGN FOR MODERN LIVING. It seems to be a very down to earth book which brings in the psychological side of design and living in houses. To this librarian, many of the photographs seem cluttered and the rooms overly full of stuff, but this is actually beside the point for readers will take what they need from the book and go on to do their own houses as they want them done. Certainly this is a practical book and a relief from the ones which require a fortune to follow. Read it and see what good ideas you can find in it.

PROMISE HER ANYTHING, BUT GIVE HER

A Carmel sunset like last night's . . . Sandpipers on the early morning beach . . . the wonderful "clean" smell in the air . . . 5,592 Monterey pine trees and 3,068 oak trees, 1,232 acacias and 490 cypress (inside the city limits). Give her bird songs in the morning and moonlight on the water and squirrels to feed and raccoons to watch. Give her the white sand beaches, and time to walk on them, and a dog to walk on them with her.

And give her quaint shops to browse and artists and craftsmen to provide delightful things to look at, and a public library with a fireplace which is USED . . . fascinating people from all over the world for her neighbors . . . symphonies to hear and ballet to watch, or auto races, or golf matches, or dog or horse shows.

Let her have Pt. Lobos, and lots of live theater and seven o'clock in the morning at Fisherman's Wharf in Monterey. Let her have the cool mists of the beaches or the sunshine of the valley. Let her take classes in anything she wants to learn, from Greek to sculpting.

Expensive? None of its costs anything except the 50c fee at Pt. Lobos or unless you buy a fish from the wharf markets. (If she acts or works in production, the theaters give her free tickets!) (And the dog is waiting at the animal shelter).

It's all part of the wonderful, good life in the Carmel area. As to where you'll live, we have homes priced from $20,000 on up, and we'll help you find a rental if you can't buy yet. We have homes in the sunshine and homes in the shade, on the rocky coast, in the forest, up on hills and down in valleys—all of them accompanied by all of the above free items.

Promise her anything, but give her Carmel! May we help you?

SUPPLY AND DEMAND
SELDOM BALANCE IN THE
(HOWEVER, WE HAVE PLENTY OF BOTH)

$65,000 will buy one of the most comfortable, modern homes in spectacular CARMEL RIVIERA, completely furnished and ready for immediate occupancy. (After spending two Sundays there keeping "Open House", this statement can be made from personal experience.) The unobstructable ocean view is a bonus with no "stamps" required. Or, if desired you may purchase unfurnished for a negotiated price.

$64,000 is all that is needed to purchase a modern three bedroom home with a slightly Oriental touch in the architecture and numerous unusual features which make this a home of distinction. Located in CARMEL MEADOWS on a street of comparable homes. This is not "just another house"; it is one of which any Owner would be proud.

$32,750 may seem modest when compared with the two foregoing prices, and it is a low price on any basis of reasoning for a 60 ft. lot with a two bedroom and den home within walking distance of the business section of CARMEL. Separate dining room, living room with beamed ceiling, ultra-modern kitchen . . . an older home that has been dramatically remodeled.

$32,500 will buy one of CARMEL'S most charming older homes in highly choice location. This is one of the houses that made famous the early architecture of Carmel. A delightful two bedroom home with many unique features, near beach and village, the kind of house people dream about when they think of Carmel.

$26,000 is below the list price for this modern three bedroom, modern home in MISSION FIELDS but the Owners have stated they would give favorable consideration for offers of this sum. If you have a family and want to locate in a choice area before school opens, grab this bargain while available.

MIDDLE SCHOOL PRINCIPAL BUSY

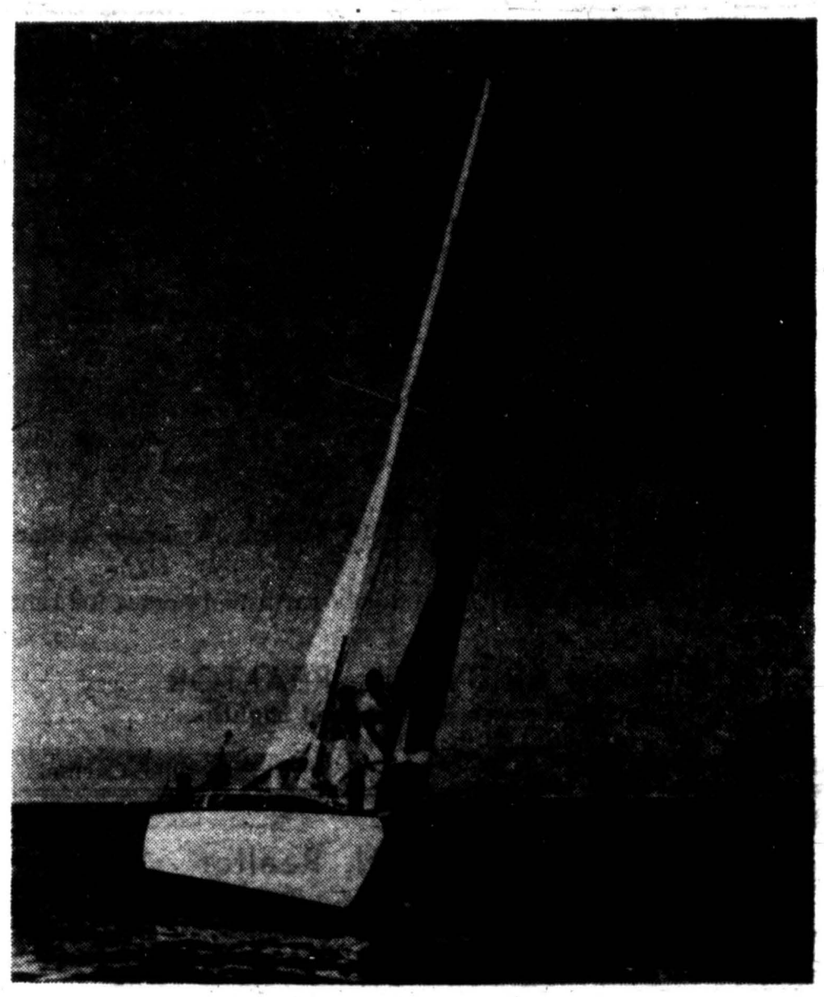

At Marmel Middle School, Principal Orville Rogers, above, is busy preparing for 730 pupils on the day after Labor Day. Working with him is Assistant Principal H. F. (Bud) Chapple. The school day in this Grades 5 through 8 facility, starting at 8:20 a.m. and ending at 3:30 p.m., will include eight 40-minute periods. The lunch program will be the same as last year with food provided by vending machines and a snack bar. Ungraded programs will be offered only in reading, science, art, crafts and music. However, pupils will be grouped according to achievment in other subjects. More electives will be offered such as drama, journalism and stream-lined reading. Based on experience last year, when Middle School for the first time was an intermediate school, Mr. Rogers states that fifth graders adapted better than other pupils to Middle School's no self-contained classroom program. He adds that last year's experience also provided knowledge to facilitate operation this year. All teachers will report to Middle School on September 1 for orientation. Before school opens, parents will receive programs in the mail and lockers will be assigned before the opening day of school.

Cultural Conference

their development, as well as fund raising, ticket selling and audience development, will be present. General topics and specific local problems and prospects will be discussed. Date of the conference will be announced later.

Leonard G. Heller, president of the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the American Federation of Arts announced that the organization has changed its name to the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association. The new name, he said, better indicates the purely local support of the organization and its primary aim to maintain a local community program of exhibitions in San Francisco. Museums, he explained have many important functions in addition to maintaining large buildings and his organization, while it plans at some time in the future to have its own building, is carrying out many community services in their present quarters.

SAYONARA BATTLES

Last Saturday and Sunday, Lloyd Womble's Sayonara, above, battled to retain the Grace T. Veeder trophy against the challenger, La Atravida, on Monterey Bay. Despite the efforts of Harvey Kilpatrick, Sayonara skipper, and his crew, Jim Womble, Rick Gregory, Peter Stuber and Bill Clapper, the trophy left the Monterey Peninsula Yacht Club to repose at the Santa Cruz Yacht Club. Stock Market Notes

By Hugh Hannon

A lesson for every single person who has money is brought out by last week's 20 most active stocks on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow Jones Average was down 11.86 for the week and yet 17 of the 20 most active stocks were up (most over 10%). Of the three stocks that were down, one was an airline stock affected by the airline strike. The active selling in the other two weak stocks, General Motors and American T & T, is where many believe the lesson is.

Why are two such obvious blue chips that are well down from their highs being heavily sold, while a bunch of research oriented electronic stocks are not only in the 20 most actively bought stocks; but are up in many cases over 10% in one week?

One reason is short covering which is short term so not important to long term investors. The important lesson in the opinion of many is that the big institutional money managers have decided that a good part of their money has to be in research oriented, low dividend, so-called glamor stocks. One might classify these as young growing companies. This of course is a risky area for investment because young growing companies can stumble and fall, so their stocks must be watched much more carefully than old mature firms like General Motors and American Tel. & Tel.

Now, if inflation continues and the price of money (interest rates) continues to stay high or go higher with the price of groceries and labor, then old mature income stocks that are not in a position to continue increasing their earnings, and thus their dividends, are not going to be as good a place to have your money invested as young growing companies.

If this is the conclusion of the professional money manager, every single one of you ought to think about where your money is. Can you afford to speculate in young growing stocks? Most people can't and shouldn't. It's best for most people to leave speculative stocks to the professional money manager who has the knowledge, experience, and money to take most of the speculation and emotion out of his decisions. The answer to this problem for most people is to have a part of your savings in a mutual fund that specializes in growth stocks.

Fidelity Trend is one of the major mutual funds in this area. According to Wiesenberger's fund management results, if you had taken your income dividends in cash and reinvested all your capital gain distributions in the last 5¼ years (to 3/31/66) in Fidelity Trend, your investment would have increased 296.2%. That's right! An increase of almost 300% in less than six years. In 1965 your investment would have gone up 57%. Who can afford not to have some money in an investment like that? In this same 5¼ years American Tel. and Tel. has gone from about 50 to its present price of 53. General Motors has gone from about 40 to its present price about 73 (less than a 100% increase). The heavy buying last week hints that you should have some money in a good growth mutual fund! As you know all New York Stock Exchange member firms offer you a wide choice of mutual funds.
